

Understanding the Re-quote process

If you receive a quote from UK Power Networks it will be subject to a validity period that will be clearly explained within the quote. If this passes the quote can no longer be accepted and a new quote or a re-quote will be needed. The diagram below explains the steps that are taken to review the requirements in order for a re-quote to be sent.

In any event please speak to the designer who prepared the original quote who will be able to talk to you about next steps.

Frequently asked questions

How long will a re-quote take?

We aim to respond to the request for a re-quote as quickly as possible, but this will vary depending on the work required to prepare the requote.

What is involved in a re-quote'?

A similar amount of work is required to revalidate a quote that has expired, as preparing a new quote. This includes, where appropriate, a full network assessment and review of base costs (materials and labour).

My requirements have only slightly changed, can I ask for a re-quote?

No, if your requirements have changed we will need to provide a completely new quote, considering the new requirements, a new full application will be needed.
