

Customer contact process if you are unhappy with our service

At UK Power Networks we want to give you excellent customer service. However, we realise that sometimes things can go wrong. We want to know when this happens so we can sort out any problems as quickly as possible.

Step 1

Resolution by Customer Care team

When you contact us we will call you, if we have your phone number, to understand your problem. Although we will do our best to resolve the matter on this call, we may need to follow the issue up later with more detailed information.

If we do not have your phone number, we will write or email you back within 10 working days of you contacting us.

Please note: if you contact us after 4pm weekdays or on a weekend or bank holiday, we will call you the next normal working day.

Step 2

Referral to a senior customer care colleague

If your problem is unresolved, you can ask for a customer care leader to review the complaint. They will contact you within three working days – by letter, phone or personal visit. They will work with you to resolve the problem.

Step 3

Final review by a customer care manager or senior UK Power Networks manager

If you are still not you can ask for your complaint to be formally reviewed by UK Power Networks Service Delivery Manager Simon Whitfield or another senior manager by emailing executivecomplaintsteam@ukpowernetworks.co.uk

Step 4

Energy Ombudsman

We will do all we can to solve your problem by working with you. However, if you are still unhappy with our actions and you have followed Steps 1 to 3, you have the right to contact the Energy Ombudsman. This is a free and independent dispute resolution service. The Ombudsman will ask you for a full account of your dealings with us and they will also contact us to gain a factual understanding of the case from our perspective.

The Ombudsman is an independent body, established to provide a free-of-charge service to impartially resolve customer complaints in cases where the customer and the distribution network operator cannot agree on final resolution. The Ombudsman may require us to take one or more of the following actions - take practical action that may benefit you, offer an apology or explanation or make a financial reward. Their final decision is binding on us but not you as the customer.
